THE FIRST thing you need to decide when booking your dream venue is whether you want to get married in a Church and then have your reception at a country house or hotel or have the wedding and reception all in one location.

Your local council will have a list of venues that are licensed to hold civil ceremonies. You then need to establish a range of dates that are suitable for you as the actual day may depend on the availability of the venue/church and registrar/vicar.

Next make a preliminary guest list to determine the number of people you'd like to invite and establish a budget you are happy with.

Once you have decided on this, you can then start making appointments to go and see some venues.

This can be really exciting, it is always a good idea to choose a venue which offers the facility of an in house wedding co-ordinator as they will have an array of local wedding suppliers from DJs to cake makers to cars right through to fabulous harpists and great photographers and they will know what works best at their venue.

You may find that having a small intimate ceremony and wedding breakfast for 60 people followed by a marquee reception for 150 with hog roast, disco and cash bar where

Celebrate with the Perfect Venue

We Can Help: Walcot Hall has a dedicated wedding coordinator, transport manager and styling team who can arrange everything for your wedding in-house including chair covers and organza bow tie backs, favours and colour themes.

Top Tip: If you're looking for a truly bespoke, fairytale wedding this is the place. This venue is the height of exclusivity they only hold 12 weddings a year!

And Don't Forget... It's invaluable to have your wedding coordinator and her team there all day and throughout the evening reception to make sure the day runs smoothly so you can just look beautiful and enjoy your big day. At Walcot Hall, Cindy can arrange all this... and much much more!

you can invite all your friends will maximise your budget. The current trend is for marquee weddings, which afford the couple the chance to work with a blank canvas that can include gorgeous goodies such as starry skies, light curtains, black and white dance floors and individual colour schemes.

Always check to see what is included in the price such as tables, chairs, loos, dance floors and VAT.

If exclusivity is important to you, ask the venue if there will be any other weddings taking place that day and whether the general public are admitted access into the venue and its grounds.

Photos are a lasting memory of the big day and it is imperative to choose somewhere that has lots of lovely places to have beautiful pictures taken.

Good luck with your search I know the perfect venue awaits you! ■
